

Mass-digitization at the Complutense University Library. Access and preservation of its bibliographic heritage

José Antonio Magán, Manuela Palafox, Eugenio Tardón, Amelia Sanz. Universidad Complutense de Madrid

Barcelona, June 29, 2011

Overview

- Bibliographic Heritage Digitization in the UCM
- Preservation of the Complutense digital contents
- Collaborative Annotation of Digitized Literary Texts

Goals of the digitization Project with Google

- Promoting access, dissemination and preservation of the bibliographic heritage
- Adding UCM holdings to those of some major libraries in order to facilitate the access of the global academic community to the scholarly knowledge
- Designing a plan for the conservation and restoration of damaged books
- Providing to UCM scholars a corpus of digital materials which makes possible to develop digital projects

UCM and Google partnership agreement

- Cataloging Plan: 220,000 volumes were cataloged, from the 16th to 19th centuries
- Criteria Selection Guidelines:
  - Date of publication: from 16th Century to 1870
  - Book physical conditions: dimensions, text block and binding
- Binding of the 19th century books
- Over 120,000 books digitized
- Dissemination of the bibliographic heritage of the Complutense University Library

Information flow

Phiysical conditions of the digitized books by Google

Non digitized for text-block

Phiysical conditions of the digitized books by Google

Non-digitized for the binding

Dissemination and access

Preservation of the UCM digital contents

- For the implementation of a digital preservation program, 2 needs were identified:
  - A large-scale digital content repository
  - A scalable techonological and organizational potential
- Conclusion:
  - The digital preservacion could only be achieved as a result from the cooperative involvement of academic institutions following the international library community standars.
  - UCM joined HathiTrust on November 2010

There was a dog howling all night under my which may have had something to do with it; or it may have been prika, for I had to drink up all the water in my carafe, and was still . Towards moring I slept and was wakened by the continuous are tmy door, so I guess I must have been sleeping soundly then. To breakfast more paprika, and a sort of porridge of maize flour they said was "mamaliga", and egg-plant stuffed with forcemeat, a cellent dish, which they call "impletata".
